Introduction to the photographic techniques, tools and content issues in visual communication for publications. This class will examine single image photography as it is used in journalism and publications. The emphasis will be on using the photographic medium to communicate ideas, information, and emotions. Color and digital technology will be introduced, as well as an examination of sequential imaging as used in the photographic narrative form - the picture story. Pre-or co-enrollment required in COMM 2329 and 3326, or consent of instructor. Recommendation: that student has own single-lens-reflex camera and 35mm lens Course Fee: ~~$70~~ $40

Rationale:

Fee should be comparable to that of ARTS 3365 since both departments fall under the same college. Money will be used to buy chemicals and supplies for the semester.
