PSCI 3301
Research Methods in the Social Sciences.

Three semester hours. An introduction to the scientific method as applied to social science research. Topics include research methods, research designs, the analysis of data, and basic computer techniques. (Cross- listed with CRIJ 3305 and SOCI 3305)

Justification: PSCI 3301 is the PSCI major’s 1st writing course for the QEP. We no longer which this course to be cross-listed with CRIJ 3305. CRIJ 3305 at TAMIU is an online course that cannot fill this requirement.
