Lab/Course Fee change for ARTS 2316

Justification: ARTS 2316, Painting I, is an introductory studio arts class for art majors and non-majors. Usually a majority of the students are non-art majors fulfilling the core curriculum fine arts requirement. The supplies for this class are extremely expensive, averaging $228.47 or more per student. To control the quality of paint and safety issues with the mineral spirits (the solvent for oil painting) TAMIU has been supplying the solvent and as much paint as possible for the students. The costs of paint and solvents have gone up considerably from the $30 lab fee now charged the students. We would like to increase this fee to $70 per student to reflect the increased costs of supplies TAMIU purchases for the students. The art department can purchase excellent quality paint and solvent much cheaper than the students can purchase at local art supply stores.

Please see the attached list of supply expenses and justification.
