~~PSCI 3341 Leadership: The Politics and Ethics of Statecraft~~ Removed per email from Dr. Bernat (page 3).

Justification

Currently there is a leadership initiative at TAMU and a minor in leadership is one component of this initiative. The minor in International Leadership is designed around the diverse world we live in and the focus here at TAMU. The ability to motivate, inspire and lead others from diverse cultures is necessary both in the workplace and in our personal lives. One main focus of the minor is to instill an increased appreciation and understanding in our students of varying cultures and the value of diversity when working with others who differ from us. Additionally, students who complete the minor in International Leadership will have the opportunity to work with leaders from the Laredo community and begin to develop professional networks that will provide support and guidance in their futures.

I believe Paul said it should indeed be three, Paul, can you confirm?

Gentlemen,

We believe that the form discussing LEDR 4202 involves a typo – such a number indicates a 2-hr. course. Please verify that the course should produce 3 SCH, and thus the number should be LEDR 4302.

Thanks,

K

Hi all,

I just talked with Jim Norris (who conferred with Mark). This is not a course that has been developed yet for the curriculum committee to add into our degree program. Mark is interested in the class, but would need more time to develop it for inclusion into the catalog. That said, because our program needs to review its curriculum offerings, we will not add it to PSCI for next year's catalog. If you wish to develop the course in COMM for the leadership program – that would be great.

Mary – I discussed this with Paul Madlock yesterday, and he's not interested in defending the 3.0 GPA requirement. We can remove it. Paul, if you'd like to elaborate, please do.
