Academic Program/AES Unit Criminal Justice

Provide summary of the last cycle’s use of results and changes implemented
Because we only graduate a few MSCJ students each year, data gathered on the program is an ongoing process. However, faculty discussions have led us to focus on core competencies that we consider necessary for demonstrating knowledge and preparation for further graduate study. With regards to curriculum, we have reaffirmed that our required courses (Criminological Theory, Comparative Criminal Justice, Law, and Advanced Research Methods) are appropriate and should make up the core of what is taught and evaluated with regards to student learning. New faculty members have committed to implementing more writing and research papers throughout all courses taught. Because most of our courses for this degree are taught online, students are writing considerably more than they have in the past.

Section II: Analysis of Results

When (term/date) was assessment conducted?

Outcome 1
December, 2006 and January, 2007

Outcome 2
December, 2006 and January, 2007

Outcome 3
December, 2006 and January, 2007

What were the results attained (raw data)?

Outcome 1
contact Dean //While the students are improving in their writing and basic understanding of the appropriate methods used (all passing grades), our general consensus was that the students should cover more material such as data management and demonstrating the ability to carry out a research study on their own.

Outcome 2
Student Comprehensive exam scores were Spring '06: one failure Concerns were related to organization and development. However, the general understanding of theories are being covered and to some degree, students are utilizing and applying these theories.

Outcome 3
The overall student grade was a 6.2 on rubric (scale = 0-7.5)

Who (specify names) conducted analysis of data?

Outcome 1
Dean Champion; in consultation with Claudia San Miguel, Durant Frantzen, and John Kilburn

Outcome 2
Claudia San Miguel, Dean Champion, and Durant Frantzen

Outcome 3
John Kilburn and Claudia San Miguel consulting with Durant Frantzen and Dean Champion

When were the results and analysis shared and with whom (department chair, supervisor, staff, external stakeholders)? Submit minutes with data analysis to assessment@tamiu.edu (Please use Minutes Template located on the Project INTEGRATE web page.)
Minutes shared January 31, 2007 to CRIJ faculty.

NOTE: Submit all assessment documentation (i.e., surveys, rubrics, course exams with embedded questions, etc.) to the Office of Institutional Effectiveness and Planning.

Use of Results: Indicate whether criteria were met/not met and what changes, if any, have been identified based on the data collected?

How have these data-based changes improved your program/unit?
Outcome #1: We plan to develop Research Methods as a two-part course. The first course will cover the basics (sampling, theory, and data collection). The second course will require students to carry out their own study through the analysis of data. Outcome #2: The current comprehensive exam system will continue. Outcome #3: Continue offering Criminological Theory. Stress the utilization of theory. Note that those students with significant professional experience in the field of criminal justice find it easier to apply these theories. Those students with limited professional experience find this task more difficult. Make instructors aware of this.
