NOTICE TO STUDENTS

Section 7(b) of the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 55a) requires that when any federal, state or local government agency requests an individual to disclose his social security account number, that individual must also be advised whether that disclosure is mandatory or voluntary, by what statutory or other authority the number is solicited, and what uses will be made of it.

Accordingly, students or applicants for admission as students are advised that disclosure of a student's social security account number (SSAN) is mandatory as a condition for participation in certain activities at Texas A&M University. Under the mandatory category, the SSAN is used to verify the identity of the student, and as a student account number (identifier to record necessary data accurately for such activities as: determining and recording disbursement and repayment of loans; recording entitlement to and payment of scholarships, grants, allowances, and official student travel and per diem; determining and recording eligibility for and participation in the Reserve Officers Training Corps program and in athletic and similar events; and such other related requirements which may arise).

Disclosure of a student's SSAN is voluntary for certain other activities. Under the voluntary category, the SSAN is used to verify the identity of the student and to record data accurately for such activities as: recording eligibility for admission as a student; reporting initial physical examination; application, testing, reporting, and evaluation for the College Entrance Examination Board; recording and reporting student grades and related academic data; registering for placement services to include preparation of resumes and furnishing information to prospective employers; and such other related uses which may arise. Authority for requiring the disclosure of a student's SSAN is grounded in section 7(a) (2) of the Privacy Act, which provides that an agency may continue to require disclosure of an individual's SSAN as a condition for the granting of a right, benefit, or privilege provided by law where the agency required this disclosure under statute or regulation prior to January 1, 1976, in order to verify the identity of an individual. Texas A&M International University has, for several years, consistently requested the disclosure of the SSAN on student application forms and other necessary student forms and documents used pursuant to statutes passed by the State of Texas and the United States of America and regulations adopted by agencies of the State of Texas and the United States of America, and by the Board of Regents of the Texas A&M University System.
