Justification: As our university grows, there has been an increased interest in the Fitness and Sports degree, especially the Non-Certification Fitness and Sports bachelor's degree. The COE already offers a minor in Special Education, Early Childhood Education, and Reading, and we believe a minor in Kinesiology is a good next step. We have the faculty with the credentials and expertise to teach the courses in this minor, which is similar to the minor offered at other universities. We already have non-COE students taking these courses as electives, and we would like them to have the option of having a kinesiology minor, which is offered at many other universities.
