ENGL LLTE 5304 Studies in English Language

Three Semester Hours

A special topics seminar in some aspects of the study of the English language. The course may focus on a special problem in linguistics, second language acquisition, language policy and implementation, literacy or the teaching of the language. Prerequisite. Graduate standing. May be repeated for credit when topic changes.

Justification: This course is being changed to reflect the combination of the current M.A. in Spanish and the M.A. in English into a new degree in Language, Literature, and Translation. As the two current degrees will become obsolete with the imminent adoption of the new degree, the course catalog needs to reflect the new nomenclature.

Learning Outcomes: On next page.

~~Following successful completion of this course, students will be able to:~~

- ~~1. Identify and articulate, both verbally and in writing in accord with graduate level standards, theoretical and practical issues related to the course's topic as identified by current research;~~
- ~~2. Identify and articulate solutions, both verbally and in writing in accord with graduate level standards, to theoretical and practical issues related to the course's topic as identified by current research;~~
- ~~3. Produce a research project connected to topics addressed by the course that is of sufficient quality to be revised for future academic publication.~~
