EDCU 5320 Crisis Intervention in the School Setting Three semester hours.

In this elective course, students will review crisis intervention skills and applicability to the school setting. Students will spend time reflecting on how people deal with crises, exploring crisis experiences, and starting to develop skills in crisis intervention. Students will also examine some of the relevant research on crises, resolution, and resilience. However, the major focus throughout the course will be on learning the practical skills of helping children and adolescents in crisis in the school setting.

- 1) Develop an understanding of fundamental concepts, theories, strategies, and counseling skills needed to conduct effective crisis intervention for children and adolescents.
- 2) Develop an understanding of the background, dynamics, and counseling intervention methodologies needed to effectively help children and adolescents in crisis.
- 3) Develop an understanding of the process of prevention, intervention, and postvention in crisis counseling for children and adolescents.
- 4) Empower counselors to progress toward more proactive, preventive and creative initiatives in crisis intervention for children and adolescents.

Justification: This elective is being added to complement our graduate students skills and techniques in the school counseling profession. This course will address specific skills needed for addressing children and adolescents in crisis in the school setting.
