Rationale

For the addition of a new course to the catalog:

This course would be a response to repeated student requests for philosophy courses that teach in depth historical treatments of key philosophical questions and also offering the Philosophy Minor students an opportunity to become familiar with the history and traditions of its discipline. Since it has been discovered that no other courses currently within the catalog can satisfy such a request, there is a need for these new courses to be created. Therefore, the addition of the new courses also offers students an opportunity to be exposed to the diverse beliefs and worldviews underlying the cultural outlooks of many of our own students and faculty from here and abroad while fostering the type of social awareness and multiculturalism that is espoused by the new CORE of 2014-2015 like those of personal responsibility and social awareness.

~~Student Learning Outcomes:~~ REPLACED BELOW.

- ~~1. To demonstrate awareness of the scope and variety of works in the arts and humanities.~~
- ~~2. To explain those works as expressions of individual and human values within a historical and social context.~~
- ~~3. To respond critically to works in the arts and humanities.~~
- ~~4. To articulate an informed personal reaction to works in the arts and humanities.~~
- ~~5. To demonstrate knowledge of the influence of literature, philosophy, and/or the arts on intercultural experiences.~~

Student Learning Outcomes:

The student will be able to:

1. Assess through research the strengths, weaknesses, and consequences of theory in a philosophical format.
2. Demonstrate awareness of the scope and variety of works in the arts and humanities.
3. Explain those works as expressions of individual and human values within an historical and social context.
4. Critique works in the arts and humanities.
5. Engage in the creative process or interpretive performance and describe the physical and intellectual demands required of the author or visual or performing artist.
6. Articulate an informed personal reaction to works in the arts and humanities.
7. Appraise the aesthetic principles that guide or govern the humanities and arts.
8. Demonstrate knowledge of the influence of literature, philosophy, and/or the arts on intercultural experiences.

Course Description for University Catalog

PHIL 3316 Classical Through Renaissance Philosophy (Three Semester Course Hours)

This course will cover the major philosophers from the Hellenistic and Roman philosophy of antiquity beginning circa 600 B.C.E. to the significant texts of the seventeenth-century in courses of study like theology, metaphysics, epistemology, moral psychology, aesthetics, and the utopian project of the West. Possible philosophers include such thinkers as the Pre-Socratics, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Augustine, Aquinas, Descartes, Berkeley, Hobbes, Machiavelli, Leibniz, Bacon, and Locke. Course may be repeated for credit when topic changes.
