How to become a School Administrator through the Master of Science in Educational Administration Program

What Do Educational Administrators Do?

Educational Administrators plan, direct, and coordinate the academic, administrative, or auxiliary activities of public or private elementary or secondary level schools. Principals in particular coordinate curriculums, oversee teachers and other school staff, and provide a safe and productive learning environment for students.

Certifications:

- Candidates will be eligible to complete their certification exam in the final semester of their specialization courses (typically semester 5 of the program).
- Eligibility would be dependent on the candidate's successful completion of all preliminary activities in the certification plan.

Job Outlook

- Typically, principals at UISD have been with the district for an average of 20 years.
- Typically, principals at LISD have been with the district for an average of 19 years.

Pay:

- The median national salary for Educational Administrators in Elementary Schools for the 2016-2017 school year was $93K.
- In the 2016-2017 school year, administrators with Laredo Independent School District averaged salaries of 78k for Campus administration and $91k for Central Administration.
- In the 2016-2017 school year, administrators with United Independent School District averaged salaries of $80k for Campus administration and $90k for Central Administration.
