intual IT'S ON US WEEK

April 27 – April 30, 2020

We may be social distancing but we are still connected in our fight to overcome all forms of sexual violence! Join TAMIU in the nationwide movement to end sexual assault on college campuses.

MONDAY

It's On Us Virtual Pledge Drive

Grow the movement to combat sexual violence while also flattening the COVID-19 curve! Join TAMIU in taking an It's On Us virtual pledge. Click here to take the pledge.

TUESDAY

Digital Screening of the Nameless Documentary 12:00pm-1:30pm

Hosted by Men Can Stop Rape

This event features a free digital screening of a documentary about child sex trafficking in the nation's capital followed by a Twitter Town Hall. Register in advance here to receive relevant details and access to the film.

WEDNESDAY

Coloring for a Cause

Looking for a way to de-stress and raise awareness? Check out these coloring pages from the National Sexual Violence Resource Center. Once you finish a page, share it on social media and use the hashtag #DustdevilsAskFirst. We can't wait to see your creations!

THURSDAY

Teal Thursday!

On Thursday, we wear teal! Help turn social media teal – the color of sexual assault awareness and prevention – by sharing a teal selfie using #DustdevilsAskFirst. Whether it's a teal ribbon, shirt, or other accessory, your participation will serve as a conversation-starter about topics like consent, respect, and prevention.

Take Back the Night 7:00pm – 8:00pm

Take Back the Night is a worldwide effort to combat sexual violence. Join this global webcast hosted by the Take Back the Night Foundation in their continued effort to support survivors and raise awareness about sexual violence. This webcast will include speakers, poetry, and healing activities for up to 3,000 participants. Register here in advance.
